SERIES OF ONE-ACT PLAYS ON PROGRAM OF DRAMATIC CLUB

Active Members To Be Divided Into Producing Groups

STUDENT COACHES WILL DIRECT

Nearly 150 Signify Their Intention of Becoming Members

Four long plays and a series of sixteen one act play programs are to be given this season by the Dramatic club, Prof. Frank W. Cady announced this morning.

The one act plays are planned for every other Thursday, but the dates are expected to be flexible in order to provide for unforseen conflicts. Each of the programs is to be under the personal direction of one member of the Play Production course. The active members of the Club will be divided into sixteen groups, so that each person may have a share in one program.

The list of dates and directors follows:

One Act Plays

Oct. 16, Group 1, Director, Katherine Abel.
Oct. 30, Group 2, Director, Helen Sheldon.
Nov. 13, Group 3, Director, Richard Rapport.
Nov. 28, Group 4, Director, Dorothy Johnson.
Dec. 11, Group 5, Director, Louis Lebowitz.
Jan. 15, Group 6, Director, Arnold Shaw.
Feb. 12, Group 7, Director, Eleanor Frost.
Feb. 26, Group 8, Director, Emile Holley.
Mar. 12, Group 9, Director, Clyde Fussell.
Mar. 26, Group 10, Director, Melvin Livingston.
Apr. 2, Group 11, Director, Rachel Barnes.
Apr. 16, Group 12, Director, Verna Scott.
Apr. 30, Group 13, Director, William Purdy.
May 7, Group 14, Director, Esther Spooner.
May 21, Group 15, Director, Paul Benedict.
June 4, Group 16, Director, Dorothy Tillapaugh.

Longer Plays

Dec. 5, Director, Kenneth Anderson.
Jan. 16, Director, Professor Cady.
Apr. 17, Director, Paul Ward.
June 15, Director, Professor Cady.

The one act plays will be private performances open only to members of the Dramatic Club; these will be held, until further notice, in the Old Chapel. The performances of the long plays will be public. The dates for their presentation have been reserved for the Gymnasium.

At present the applications for membership in the Club for the current year number about one hundred and fifty. There are two kinds of members, active and supporting. Each kind has the privilege of attending all one act play productions without charge except the payment of Club dues, and the further privilege of half price at the public productions. The dues for supporting members are $2 a year. As the active members pledge themselves to participate actively in the Club activities either as actors ,costumers, stage helpers, or in other ways, the dues for them are but $1. It is still possible to apply for membership of either kind, but the Club is especially anxious for supporting members as it is always in need of adequate financial backing.

Provision in the constitution of the Club is made for faculty membership of both kinds. Professor Burrage has the necessary application cards, and it is hoped that the Club may obtain a large faculty membership.

First Smoker and Rally Arouses Enthusiasm

"Prexy" Moody, Capt. Klevenow and Coach Morey Speak

Last Friday night a big rally was held in the McCullough gymnasium to stimulate interest in the approaching Harvard game.

After several cheers President Paul D. Moody was introduced. He said in part: "I am sincerely hoping that we whip Harvard, but I don't imagine that it will be a large score. We are going to do our best at any rate. The confidence of the College is back of our men. At Marathon the Greeks held far superior numbers at bay, and we expect to do the same on October 11th. Go to it; work up all the enthusiasm that you can, and the College will stand back of the team in the bleachers"

"Every man is going to do his best. That is enough for a successful season provided the students back the team. Above all don't let your spirit end with the Harvard game." said Captain Klevenow in speaking for the team.

Lastly Coach Morey addressed the students, "Our team will fight against odds at all times, no matter how great. When you see your team hold Harvard a feeling comes over you, a spirit that is not to be denied. Go to that Harvard game, and if any one doesn't honestly get a thrill I will pay his fare down and back!"

"FACULTY FROLIC" COMING NOV. 1ST.

Show Staged to Buy Movie Camera and Projector

November 1st is the tentative date for the entertainment to be given by the faculty, according to the information given out by Dean Edgar J. Wiley this morning. A special motion picture with several extra features are planned, and the proceeds will be used to purchase a first-class motion picture camera and projector.

The show will be staged in the McCullough gymnasium, and the machine to be purchased will be used in presenting the feature picture of the evening. In order to take pictures of the college and interesting features of its life, it is planned to purchase a camera as well as a projector. The films thus taken will be shown before the student body and various alumni gatherings.

It is planned to use the machine to present some of the better class movies for the student body under college management throughout the year. Many films can be secured through government bureaus covering subjects which may be used in conjunction with lectures in various courses.

The first meeting of the season of Deutscher Verein was held Saturday evening at the home of Professor Skillings. Plans for the year were talked over, and the evening's program concluded with singing of German songs

FRATERNITY RUSHING

Rushing season will open Thursday, November 20th at 12:30 p. m., and extend to Tuesday, November 25th at 10:00 p. m. Pledge day will be Wednesday, November 25th.

BLACK PANTHER TO INVADE BOSTON

Huge. Middlebury. Throng To Support Team at Harvard

The Black Panther of Middlebury will take its place along with the Yale Bulldog and the Princeton Tiger on Oct. 11, when Boston will be invaded by a new horde of football enthusiasts who will travel to Cambridge to support the Blue and White team in its annual tilt with the Harvard eleven in the stadium. Where there have been but a handful of Middlebury rooters during the past few years, there will be a group of several hundred to support the team that gained nationwide notoriety last year by holding the mighty Crimson machine to a 6-6 tie.

According to present plans the larger part of the student body will make the trip to the Hub via special train over the Rutland and Boston and Maine lines, which, in addition, will carry a large number of alumni and followers of Middlebury living in this part of New England. The tentative schedule provides for the Middlebury special to leave here at six o'clock the morning of the game, arriving in the Bean town at about noon and departing from there again at midnight, arriving here in the wee small hours of the following day.

Already approximately three hundred of the students have signified

Hawthorne Resigns From Campus Staff

Jackson To Fill Post of News Editor; Cutler Named Ass't. Editor

The resignation of Dana S .Hawthorne, '26, as news editor of the CAMPUS was accepted at a special meeting of the staff held last Thursday. Mr. Hawthorne, one of the most experienced and valued members of the CAMPUS staff, gave as his reason for his resignation the fact that the pressure of his outside activities was too great. He wishes to have more time to devote to the work on the 1926 Kaleidoscope, of which he isthe editor-in-chief. He is also engaged as the student coach of prize-speaking this year. Mr. Hawthorne, although not on the staff, will write special articles for the CAMPUS from time to time.

To fill the vacancy in the position of news editor which was thus caused, the staff elected James S. Jackson, '26, to the post. Mr. Jackson has served as an assistant editor up to the present time and besides taking an active part in debating, is in charge of the Press Club. He is also the advertising manager of the 1926 Kaleidoscope. Howard Cutler, '27, was elected to the position of assistant editor.

FROSH ELEVEN TO PLAY PROCTOR HIGH

Opportunity Offered First Year Men to Show Their Stuff

While the varsity is battling Union at Schenectady next Saturday, the freshman football team will play Proctor High school on Porter field.

The Proctor High game is the first of the eight contests on the frosh schedule this year and it will give a line upon what can be expected from the freshmen in the other seven games, as well as the prospective material for next year's varsity.

While the strength of Proctor High is unknown, Coach Potratz is expected to give as many freshmen as possile an opportunity to show their wares in the game. Upon their showing the make-up of the regular frosh team will largely depend. Consequently some scrappy, aggressive football is expected on the part of the freshmen for not only will they be fighting to beat Proctor High but to earn a berth on the regular frosh eleven as well.

Coach Potratz's charges have been improving with each afternoon's practice, gaining in both sureness and punch and this coupled with the fact that they are one of the heaviest groups of men that have ever come out for the freshman team, make the frosh football prospects for the Proctor High and the other seven games that will follow, appear particularly bright.

1926 Kaleid Planning Some New Features

Work on the production of the 1926 Kaleidoscope, is well under way. Many of the photographs have already been taken and are now being arranged for the engravers. The Board is planning several new features this year which represent the latest ideas in college annuals. A different arrangement of the Junior section is one of the features. Some new ideas in the arrangement of the Campus Photographic Section will be one of the distinguishing marks of the 1926 Book. The circulation manager is collecting Junior taxes now ,in order that the board may have money on hand to take advantage of cash discounts thus reducing expenses.

MIDDLEBURY TRIMS ST. MICHAEL'S BY SCORE OF 20 TO 0

Game Listlessly Played With No Doubt of the Outcome

KEENE MAKES GOOD SHOWING

Thirty Men Used Throughout Game; Klevenow Makes First Score

Middlebury opened the season Saturday, September 27th, by registering a 20-0 victory over St. Michael's College. The game was listlessly played, the outcome never in doubt from the first kick-off. The varsity line-up started the fray but was soon withdrawn and the substitutes given the opportunity to display their ability.

The first score came early in the first quarter; Captain Klevenow the big fullback carrying the ball over but failing to kick the goal. Immediately after this play Klevenow took himself out of the line-up, substituting Keene, a new man at fullback. In the absence of Coach Morey who went to Boston Captain Klevenow directed the play from the side lines.

In the second quarter a St. Michael's punt went straight up in the air and came down into the hands of Carboy who ran five yards for a touchdown. In the third period "Flash" Hollquist broke loose for a thirty yard run off left tackle putting Middlebury in a scoring position. From here Keene carried the ball over for the third and last score of the game. Whitney and Kilbride were successful in their tries for point after the last two scores.

The game offered little opportunity to get a line on the regular team for the regulars were in but a short time. However, in those few minutes their hard charging of the line and the speed of the backs was an encouraging sign. Coach Morey is pointing to the Harvard game two weeks hence and used nothing but straight football to defeat St. Michaels.

The play of Keene, a transfer of last year was exceptionally good and he will make a valuable addition to the backfield forces. Other new men who showed up well were Gruggel and W. Rice at ends, and R. L. Rice at quarter.

Rational Enthusiasm

Football season is on. Our team auspiciously opened it with the victory over Saint Michael's last Saturday, and bids fair to make even a better record than last year. The crowning achievement was, of course, the sensational Harvard game when the mighty Crimson line was held to a tie by the fighting Vermont eleven. The enthusiasm and backing accorded our team was never so spirited as at that time. The showing made in the Harvard Stadium that memorable October afternoon wiped out any defeats suffered before or after that game. A great deal was said to urge the students to support the team not only with cheers but with numbers at the various out of town games. And the student body responded to the appeal.

Last year the students were asked to attend every game they possibly could. But there is a limit to all things and some unfortunately didn't realize when the limit had been reached. What was the result? The general decline of scholarship thruout the college has been attributed to some extent to the absences caused by following the team. Many followed the team to its victory and their scholastic defeat. One cannot lose very many week-ends without catastrophic results to their studies. It wasn't so much in the three upper classes that the ranks were depleted, but the toll in the freshman class was deplorable. Fellows who had bummed their way to the games were held over by hard luck in getting rides and as a result were overcut, not only once, but several times in their subjects.

Let us face the situation clearly and sanely. We are told periodically by advisers, who have experience behind their advice as well as our welfare at heart, that we are here primarily to gain an education. We pay our money to receive instruction and then at every opportunity we absent ourselves from classes or cheer wildly when an instructor fails to appear for class. As someone has remarked, it's the nature o' the beast! We believe in college spirit to the letter, we advise following the team when it is financially or scholastically possible, we believe in giving everything we have if it will benefit the college, but we do not feel that we should go so far as to do things which will prove detrimental to our education. We may engage actively in some sport or extra-curricular activity and work hard to gain some distinction for ourselves and our Alma Mater, but it seems as though we ought to keep in mind one thing while doing it. That is: If one is successful in the field he has chosen, and has kept up in his work he will have the applause and his diploma. If on the other hand, he lets his work slide he will have nothing but the applause—an empty glory indeed. His efforts may be appreciated but that won't help him to graduate.

It is for that reason that we are centering our attention on one of the out of town games this year and attempting to make it a real affair. If some can support other games without detriment to their scholarship, well and good. Let us show our loyalty to the team and develop the old Middlebury spirit as in the past, but let us do it sanely and reasonably.

First Things First

Excitement and emotional stress act very much as a magnifying glass. Small things of little importance are made to seem of alarming proportions. A sense of perspective in a person of college age is as rare as a day in June, and when once cultivated should be treasured. It is a most necessary thing, not only in an architect's office, but in life everywhere. Along with it should go a clear cut sense of values. These two things are the primary requisites for a calm and peaceful state of mind during this fall season, which is a hard one for most of the women of the college. It is a time when first things are very apt to be placed last. We are here, supposedly, for the training of our minds and our characters. Fraternities help a great deal in that training. However, it is a test of how much we have gained in self-control and sweetness if we can go through this somewhat trying period with no strained feeling, no animosity, and without a warped, distorted view of things.

A sense of values, and perspective is a rare thing. We are members, some of us, of a fraternity group. However, first, we are members of a larger group, the college. We are fellow students and nothing in the business of the smaller should be allowed to interfere with the work and close knit spirit of the greater. A very few pepole could radically change and ruin the prevailing fine spirit now in evidence.

The days are often not long enough to take in all that we have to do. We get tired and nervous. Little things grate on us. Then is the time to remember that anyone losing her head sufficiently to rush back into the fire after a toothbrush, will never be of any great consequence in the world. Let's keep calm, and keep our heads. If at the end of a month the upperclassmen should be too tired and overwrought to study, and if the freshmen should be equally upset, it would be of little proof of the value of national organizations, and would simply mean that we had failed to keep first things first.

BY THE YARD

The following notice was handed to us for publication in this column; the author believed that this was the proper place for it to attract attention since he thot that he Freshmen would read first only what was easiest for them to understand and digest. We need not apologize for it, since it is not ours.

MEN OF THE FRESHMAN CLASS!

By not-to-be-disputed order of the faculty our kindly highly respected upperclassmen are forbidden opportunity of giving us our full share of the exictements attendant upon being a Freshman. They are disputed and denied the privilege of warming us toward our seat of learning; we are deprived of certain inalienable rights which only Freshmen have.

Brothers in distress, do you realize what this means? Freed at last from the bondage of performing their unhappy rites, these upperclassmen will—unless some action is taken by us—immediately take from us our horizon-blue Stetsons, our jaunty grass green ties, our neat, comfortable white gloves, and our warm red hosiery. Further, they will order us to roll our trouser legs to their normal position, that we may cease carrying to our rooms tons of perfectly good paving stones and boulders. They will ask that we discard our sack coats for gayer raiment not in keeping with our sober ambitions. Within two days we will have disappeared in the crowd, and no one will be aware of the fact that such creatures as Freshmen ever existed.

Shall we allow this? Shall we let our marked individuality be dissolved in the melting-pot? Shall we thus tamely surrender our heritage without even a bowl of porridge—or oatmeal, as we prefer—in return?

NO! A Thousand Times No! !

We must organize that this catastrophe may be averted! We must take such steps as will force every upperclassman in college to acknowledge us as the lowest underdogs! We must fight for our servitude!

Once organized, let us make certain that our rights are recognized by asking that the S. R. C. add to our Ten Commandments these three:

1. That for at least some time, week days excepted, we use only collar buttons to hold our neck-appendanges in position.

2. That during an equal period we tie our shoe laces with clove hitches only; any Freshman using a bow, square or hard knot shall be severly reprimanded.

3. That no Freshman shall be allowed to speak in class during the first seven months; any Frosh conversing with an instructor, a professor, and adviser, or a friend on the faculty staff, shall receive the condemnation of the class whose moral support shall be taken from the offender.

Since they no longer have fit means for enforcing any of our commandments, it is our duty to see that the upperclassmen are provided with such means. We must respectfully submit to them some plan such as the following, and if they persist in refusing to enforce them, we must be prepared to use every ounce of diplomacy and auto-suggestion in our power to drive them to it.

In these rules lie our salvation; they are our only hope of standing out from the common herd. We must see that they are adopted!

Freshmen, Do your stuff! !

VESPER SPEAKER USES THREE TEXTS

Dr. John A. Neeld Makes Appeal for Faith In Christian Ideals

Dr. John A. Neeld, of St. Johnsbury, spoke at vespers from three texts, "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he," "Have this mind in you that was in Christ Jesus," and, "It hath not yet appeared what ye shall be." "I make an appeal" he said, "for faith in Christian ideals, but I will speak from a practical rather than a theological standpoint. Why are people what they are? Persons of splendid material prospects often remain stationary, main ly because they think in the terms in which they live. Progress is not in material things, it is thought that is necessary to overcome the static circumstances of life. The way a man thinks, the capacity of his mind, brings him success or failure."

"Moreover thought determines not only what you are, but also what you will be. A man without ambition will get nowhere. The soul that is dynamic consists not of what you have, but of what you think. Christianity presents stimuli for thought, definite foundations for it. Let us attempt to find the great inner consciousness of Christ, let us try to get his mind. When we do we will be set free from fears, such as those of the future, criticism. We see Christ move with steady step, seeming to understand all fears, and to be above them. Then we will learn too, that we are sons of God, the realization of this will make us think of our own high possibilities, and it is the thing we think we are that changes us. Do not expect to meet your ideal, however, in a single day. Life is built on faith, not facts. Try to find the dynamo of human progress, the deeper meaning of the mind of Christ. But for now, get started on your way, no matter how humble your beginnings may be."

Spanish Club Choose Officers at First Meeting

At a meeting of the Spanish club in the hemicycle last Friday Professor La-Calle spoke of the aims of the club, and its plans for the coming year. Officers were elected, Richard Rapport being chosen for president, Lillian Randquist, vice president, and Chester Grant, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Rapport has not confined his talent and service to the Spanish club activities alone during his stay here. He has been a great addition to the work of the Dramatic club, both in literary and the more tangible line of actual participation in plays, notably the leading part in the Junior play last year. He was on the staff of the Kaleidoscope, and the Blue Baboon and is a member of the English club. Miss Randquist has been active in athletic lines, and in Y. W. C. A. work. She is a member of the Sigma Kappa sorority.

An executive committee composed of Gertrude Hitt, and Theorode Sterns, were also chosen at this time.

First Informal Held

Characterized by the number of freshmen present, the first informal dance of the season, given Saturday evening in the Gym by Delta Tau, started off at a galloping rate to the tune of Gollnick's Rounders.

More than a hundred couples were present, who to all outward appearances enjoyed a "howling good time."

The patrons and patronesses for the evening were Prof. and Mrs. Allen M. Kline and Prof. and Mrs. Floyd N. House.

William Myers, ex-25, sailed last week for Antilla, Cuba, where he will be engaged in construction engineering for a year. Mr. Myers is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Lloyd C. Harris, ex-'26, has returned to college after attending Ohio State for a short time.

Senior Class Elects W. E. Long President

The senior class elections were held last Tuesday in the hemicycle. The new officers are: W Edwin Long,, president; Evelyn Plumley, vice president; W H. Staples, treasurer and Dorothy Johnson, secretary.

Mr. Long has served his class in other capacities before, as chairman of the Junior week program, on the Kaleidoscope Board, and on various committees. He is a member of Kappa Delta Rho, and Delta Tau. Miss Plumley has been on the Pan-Hellenic and Student Government Councils, and is at present vice president of the latter organization. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta. Mr. Staples is a member of the Chi Psi fraternity and Miss Johnson is amember of the Pi Beta Phi sorority.

36 Enter Tennis Tournament

With thirty-six tournament entries, College tennis already shows promise. Ten are out from the class of '25; seven from class of '26; five from '27; and fourteen from '28. Much interest appears in th eFreshman Class. Rich '23 champion, Hickox '22 champion, Adams and Wolfskehl of last year's team are out again. A good showing is expected from C. P. Young and E. W. Hindes both of the Freshman class. First and second rounds will be completed on Saturday.

At the junior class elections held Wednesday afternoon in the Hemicycle, Alfred Knowles of Boston, Mass., was elected to the presidency, Eleanor Frost of Amherst, Mass., was chosen vice president, R. Lawrence Rice, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Lucy MacDonald, of Reading, Mass., holds the secretaryship. Mr. Knowles is a member of the Chi Psi fraternity and the Sages. Miss Frost is a member of Pi Beta Phi. Mr. Rice is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon and Delta Tau, and Miss MacDonald is a member of Delta Delta Delta.

A son, Severance Milton, was born to Milton L. and Beatrice Barnes, of Clifton, N. J. Mr. Barnes is a member of the class of '22.

Black Panther Invades Boston

their intentions of making the trip via the special and an effort is now being made whereby stops will be made at Rutland and Ludlow enroute to the Bay State to pick up alumni and supporters from that vicinity who are planning to back the team at Cambridge. At present the fare is fixed at $9.36 on a basis of 200 persons, which is but 65 per cent of the regular fare and a group of 300 or more will further reduce the fare to 60 per cent or less of the regular tariff.

So great is the interest being manifested in the Stadium tilt this year that October 11 bids fair to become a national holiday insofar as the Blue and White is concerned. So great is the interest in the game that the faculty, in special executive session last week, voted a special athletic holiday and suspension of all classes on Oct. 11 ,thus setting a precedent in athletic history of the college, as heretofore such action has been taken relative to the out of town games in the State Championship series only. However, there will be no holiday declared the day of the Norwich game but the Harvard game so far eclipses the Norwich tussle that this will matter but little.

It will be a Middlebury day in every way for noon will find several Middlebury luncheons scattered about the dining places of the Hub with students and alumni present. Following the game there will be several big dinners followed by theatre parties and dansants at the clubs and hotels previous to the departure of the special bearing the Blue and White supporters back to the Green Mountains, probably with a victory clenched in the Panther's mighty jaws.

SAXONIAN OFFERS A STORY CONTEST

Open To All Members of College; Prize Stories to be Published

A new and unusual undertaking has been started by the Editors of the Saxonian, the Middlebury literary quarterly, in the form of a short story and one-act play contest. The contest is open to all members of both the men's and women's colleges, and the prize manuscripts will be published in this year's issues of the publication. The judges will be Professor Cady, Professor Perrin, and the Editors of the Saxonian, Mr. Jaggard and Miss Mutchison.

The manuscripts may be from 2000 to 3000 words, and may not exceed 3000, as the capacity of the quarterly must be turned in by October 15, the does not permit greater length. They latest, and should be placed in the letter box on the door marked Editor-in-Chief on the second floor of middle Painter. Thi is the joint office of the CAMPUS and the Saxonian; and all other contributions for the Saxonian, such as poetry, short plays, book reviews, impressionastic sketches, may be placed in the same letter box. The signature on contributions may ne withheld, but the Editors prefer that each manuscript for the short story contest bear both the writer's name and the words, "Saxonian Short Story Contest." The stories may be on any subject.

The Saxonian has been subsidized this year by the college making it more truly a college publication, in that it is supported financially by the entire student body and not by a few interested ones. Obviously then, it should be the organ and mouth-piece of the college of the whole, and not of a few regular contributors.

Student Government Elects; Sheldon Replaces Peck

A meeting of the student government association was held last Wednesday afternoon in the old chapel to elect a president for the ensuing year, to fill the vacancy made by Margaret Peck's resignation. Helen Sheldon was elected, the other candidates being Isobel Sutherland and Beatrice Stevens. Miss Sheldon has been very prominent in athletic, literary and dramatic lines during her college course, having been on the All-Midd team in basketball, baseball and tennis, and filling roles in several plays. Miss Sheldon is a Sigma Kappa.

Elections to the student government council were also held last week for the senior and freshman classes. Aldura Hatch was chosen to represent the senior class. Miss Hatch has been very active in athletics, and in all Y. W. activities. She is a Delta Delta Delta, and a Banshee.

Eva Marshall is to be the representative of the freshman class on the council.

MIDD. GRIDMEN FACE UNION'S TEAM

Last Year's Game a Tie; Saturday's Chances of Victory Seem Good

Middlebury's gridiron warriors play Union College's football eleven at Schenectady Saturday in their first battle this season on foreign ground, and their second contest of the year in preparation for the Harvard game at Cambridge Saturday, Oct. 11.

Last fall Union sprang a great surprise by holding Midd to a 7 to 7 tie, pushing across a touchdown on the team of second-string men that started the game. After the Black Panther regulars had tied the count with Lobo's touchdown and Klevenow's kicking of point, the game settled into a see-saw contest that ended with the ball on Union's four-yard line.

Whether or not Union can again hold Coach Morey's battlers is a question. The New York team was barely trimmed by Wesleyan last Saturday by a 3 to 0 score. With the Big Crimson conflict looming ahead, however, it is doubtful if Union can seriously threaten the team in blue.

COLLEGE CLUBS TO ASSIST THE VOTERS

Ballots Can Be Cast By Mail Great Aid to College Students

(Special to THE CAMPUS)

More than 2,000,000 voters will be reminded through the activities of College Republican Clubs that 32 states have laws which permit qualified voters to cast their ballots by mail if are out of their home states on election day, and that eight additional states have laws which permit qualified voters too cast their ballots by mail if they are within their own states, but out of their home precincts.

The work being done by the College Clubs is a part of the movement undertaken by the Republican National Committee to get the stay-at-home vote to the polls, and the college activities are being directed by the College Bureau of national headquarters in New York.

In addition to urging all students to vote at the coming election, the members of the 250 College Republican Clubs already organized and the 400 additional clubs now being formed will appeal to alumni members and to relatives and close friends to go to the polls, or vote by mail if absent from home on election day. The college club drive to get out a big vote will continue up to November 4th.

Sophomores Elect Huntington President

Alton R. Huntington, of Newport, Vermont, was chosen President of the Sophomore class at a meeting in the Hemicycle last Friday.

Since entering college Mr. Huntington has been very prominent in campus activities. He was a member of last year's Frosh football team, a member of one of the college dance orchestras, a member of Delta Tau and of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity.

At the same meeting Marion Morgan of Bristol, Vermont, was chosen vice president. Miss Morgan is a member of the Sigma Kappa Sorority, a member of last year's Women's Glee club, and a member of the Dramatic Club.

Twenty Out For Campus

With more than 20 candidates out in competition for places on the CAMPUS, the prospects of journalistic material are the brightest seen for several years. The freshmen class responded nobly to the call for compets and a few sophomores ventured to enter their names. Most of the compets prefer to try out for the editorial staff and good material is found among them. Any more sophomores or juniors wishing to come out for the paper can do so now without any handicap in the comptition.

HAVE YOU SUBSCRIBED FOR THE BABOON YET?

Boathouse Now Repaired; Paddle Your Own Canoe

The boathouse, which is a structure erected at a cost of several thousand dollars and is situated on the river front, has been extensively repaired to facilitate the landing of the college boats. The plot on which the building is situated is part of the one hundred acres acquired by the college in 1917.

A new floating dock has been constructed as well as a new chute. The latter has been fitted out with rollers and a windlass to draw the boats and canoes out of the water more easily. This was designed and built by the college carpenter. The windows have been covered with screens to prevent them being broken by mischievous boys.

The "fleet" consists of three rowboats—Hepburn, Starr, Painter—and three canoes—Pearson's, Battell, Hillcrest. Students are requested to cooperate with the college authorities in preventing fires being built around the boathouse and to keep the premises in good condition.

According to the college regulations not less than two couples may go boating together but they do not necessarily have to use the same boat. All those desiring to use the boats can make reservations with A. H. Bulbulian '25, Room 6, Hepburn, at meal hours.

Blue Baboon Copy Due In Editor's Hands Tonight

All material for the Football Number of the Blue Baboon should be in the hands of the editors tonight, according to a statement given out by John E. Connelly, jr., editor of that publication. The Board plans to make the comic better and bigger this year if it can have the support of the student body. Contributions are needed as much as financial support and any latent talent brought to the attention of the editors will be greatly appreciated.

Competitions have been opened on both the editorial and business staffs and all who are interested in this branch of journalism are asked to see the editor or one of his associates as soon as possible.

Great Open Spaces Draw the Co-Eds

Flat Rock was the scene of much activity last Thursday when Y. W. C. A. held the first bacon bat of the year for the freshmen. Hot doggies were much in evidence accompanied by bacon, corn ,and all the "eats" that make for a joyful frame of mind. The success of the bat was due to Dorissica Caswell, the head of the Social Committee. The freshmen were made acquainted with the Midd songs and a choice selection of ballads before the party broke up.

Materially speaking, some may have had difficulties, such as half roasted corn, and were forced to adjourn to Joe's later. But then—what care we for such petty material things.

Big Rally Banquet to Be Held Before U.V.M. Game

Charles Vose, '25, has been appointed chairman of the Rally Banquet Committee. It is hoped that the largest attendance in recent years may be had. The banquet will be held on the eve of the big game, Oct. 25th. A general letter is being sent to all alumni in the vicinity. Serving on the committee with Mr. Vose are With 25, McLeod '26 and Naylor '27.

R. G. Tobey Made Frosh President

Russel G. Tobey of Manchester, N. H., was chosen president of the freshman class at a meeting in the hemicycle Monday. At a later meeting Miss Ethel Palmer of Rutland, Vt., was elected vice president and Joyce Josyln of Newport, Vt., secretary. The election of a treasurer was deferred to a later date.
